NAGPUR: Happy with the response that her ongoing show of art works has received, artist Pradnya Beseekar says that she is noticing a rise in the number of visitors which is very heartening for an artist.

"The most noticeable change is in the profile of the people who are coming to see the exhibition." It's not just interior designers or art lovers who are coming in. "A stenographer in the labour court dropped by to see the show and next day came with his son to show him the art work," says Beseekar, whose exhibition is on at Rangayatan Art Gallery. On show are 350 works which mostly deal with nature. The exhibition is titled 'Mann'. "The size varies from 3x3 inches to 10x6ft. The smaller works are abstract done on paper and put in black frame. The bigger works are on canvass and the media is acrylic and oil," informs Beseekar. The price varies from Rs 200 to Rs 1.25 lakh.

"It is heartening to note that people are taking keen interest in art and are also willing to invest in it. However, they still need to be told that being original art work it is expensive," she says.
